Park-"His Better Half."

The patrons of the Park Theater are getting action, bright, clever action, for their money the last three days of the week. "His Better Half" never lags, every member of the company works hard for his wages and the audiences yesterday laughed from curtain to curtain. Charles Boyle and featured in the show, but the other players hest. Boyle and Braham and the rest of the company wind up the first act with a cake-walk that excited the audience. The second act ends with a mock "Sousa and His Band," with Boyle as Sousa. He mimics the great director's gestures and plays with his beard in a "killing" way. He had to "do it over again" last night to satisfy the audience. Miss Graham has a burlesque of a country girl in the second act. She calls the character "Sal Skinner," but it is the counterpart of Rose Melville's "Sis Hop-kins." Miss Graham was with Miss Meltille in "The Prodigal Father" while Miss Melville was doing the turn. Miss Melville has made a great hit with it in New York and has had it distended into a three-act play. Miss Graham does not do the character as well as Miss Melville, though she uses many of the same lines, but did it well enough yesetrday to convulse two large au-diences with laughter. The Five Nosses, all excellent musicians, play the William Tell overture and the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" on saxophones. intermezzo from Hastings and Wright are two versatile singers who can even win applause with such a song sentiment as "Don't Speak Her Name." Their cleverest work is in a "coster rendition" of "I Love You in the Same Old Way," which is really an artistic piece of work. There are others who add to the merriment and help to serve the show hot from the start to the finish. It is one of the best entertainments the Park has had n several years.

Miss Fletcher's Sudden Illness.

The Grand was closed last night, owing to the sudden illness of Miss Kate Fletcher. A large audience was disappointed. Money most of the people exchanged their seats for one of the remaining three performances of "The Nominee." Miss Fletcher's illness is not at all serious, and she will be able to appear to-night. Such an occurrence is rare, and had there been a little more time the cast could have been rearranged and the performance given. There is a large reserve sale for to-night and to-morrow afternoon and night.

Julia Morrison Indicted.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 28.-Miss Julia Morrison, the actress, was indicted this afternoon by the grand jury in the Circuit Court of this county for the murder of Frank Leiden, or Leidenheimer, of the 'Mr. Plaster of Paris' Company at the opera house in this city Friday evening, Sept. 22. The name of George J. Antz. of New Orleans, brother-in-law of Leiden, appears on the court papers as prosecutor. The case is set for hearing on Tuesday, Oct. The prisoner was greatly depressed by the announcement of the action of the grand jury, but she was later very much cheered by several members of the grand jury who called to see her, and stated that while they were compelled under their oaths to find an indictment, they felt sure that she would be acquitted on the State's testimony alone. Miss Morrison has taken very little nourishment since her incarceration in the county jail and appears haggard and careworn. She stated that there are details nnected with the tragedy that had not been brought out and that would not be adduced in evidence unless it became necessary to her acquittal.

> The stock-company idea is prevailing so generally over the country that the dramatic papers are devoting a department to it. Frederick Paulding, a well-known Shakspearean actor, is stage manager of the company at Milwaukee. It opened its season with "Madame Sans Gene." "The Girl I Left Behind Me" is a favorite which has not yet been given by the Indianapolis company. Miss Violet Rand, ingenue of the local stock company, is at Cincinnati this week playing the Indian girl in this play. She had this role in one of the famous New York runs. At Chicago the Dearborn Theater stock company has given "Lady Windermere's Fan" and "Charley's Aunt" thus far this

Henry Jewett, who will star this season in "The Choir Invisible," is said to strikingly suggest in personality the hero of James Lane Allen's enthralling early Kentucky romance. "A young fellow of powerful build, lean, muscular, much physical beauty in head, almost no beauty in the face; rugged as a rock, but as a rock is made less rugged ened by a fine network of nerves that wrought out upon it a look of kindness," is the way the author puts it. Off the stage Jewett is said to be all of these. Last season he was John Storm in "The Christian." His earlier fame rests on his work as leading man for Julia Marlowe several seasons

MAENNERCHOR OPEN DAY. The members of the Ladies' Society of the Maennerchor gave their first entertainment of the season yesterday afternoon, and celebrated the beginning of the social year in a manner which presages a brilliant season. It was an open day, and each member had the privilege of inviting two guests. This, with the membership, made the attendance very large. In the foyer the guests were welcomed by a committee, which included Mrs. Max Drach, chairman, and Mrs. F. J. Scholz, Miss Louisa Frenzel, Mrs. Oscar Bohlen, Mrs. Frank Mummen-Miss Elsa Emmerich. Alma Neubacher, Mrs. Herman Jose, Mrs. John Rauch, Mrs. Charles Ba'ke, Mrs. Julius Keller and Miss Emma Minter. These ladies escorted the guests to the parlor, where the officers of the society received them, after each visitor had inscribed her name in the guest book. In the parlor to greet the visitors were Mrs. Ado'f Scherrer, Mrs. John P. Frenzel, Mrs. Frederick Francke, Mrs. Rhodehamel, Mrs. C. Weiss, Mrs. Herman Adam, Mrs. Charles Adam, Mrs. Robert Elliott and Mrs. Adolf Seidensticker. The visitors were first in-vited to the coffee room, where, at small tables, coffee and cake were served. Mrs. Paul H. Krauss was the hostess and her assistants were Mrs. Dolmetch, Miss Alice hoff, Miss Mummenhoff, Mrs. P. J. Mueller, Miss Schopp Mrs. Kopp, Mrs. Mon-inger, Mrs. Jungclaus, Mrs. Off, Mrs. George Amt and Miss Lindeman. Next, they were invited to a second dining room where ices were served. Mrs. Antony Bals was the hostess and her assistants were Mrs. Louis Murr, Mrs. Happersburger, Miss Minnie Straub, Miss Emma McAvenue, Mrs. George Richards, Mrs. William Birk and Mrs. Charles Boldt, of Muncie, who is visiting Mrs. Bals. In the alcove of the foyer was the punch table, where Mrs. Hart presided, and her assistants were Mrs. Harry Bauer, Mrs. Rhodehamel, Mrs. John Wineman and Miss Edith Neubacher. The decorations were very elaborate and were appropriate to the autumn. There were festoons of asparagras over all of the doors and windows, and the feathery green was studded with great clusters of field dalsies. In the foyer and parlor red flowers were added to the green of decoration and roses, and bright geraniums filled vases and bowls. In the coffee room the windows and doors were wreathed with asparagus and black-eyed Susans. The saucy flowers twined the chandeliers and filled vases and corners. At a long table the yellow flowers were used with satin ribbons and embroideries, and candelabra in wrought iron or china, with yellow candles. Each small table held flowers and was lighted with yellow candles in china candlesticks. In the second dining room green and white were chandeliers and a mass of palms and daisles filled one entire end of the room. Crystal candlesticks, with green candles and shades in the center was a large crystal candelabrum, set on an oblong center of Batten-burg lace over green. The whole effect was like a great autumn picture, for autumn he reception and between 3 and 6 o'clock there were vocal numbers by Miss Lillie Adam and Miss Agnes Herd. The costumes of all of the ladies were handsome and those assisting wore delicate light gowns that added to the appearance of the whole

HOPS-GRANT. The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Grant was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, for which a large number of friends came from out of town. The bride was Miss Fernetta Darnell Grant, the daughter of the house, and the groom Mr. George Albert Hops, of Saybrook, Ill. The rooms were adorned with a profusion of palms and smilax, and in each room were roses and other flowers, the colors pink and white being used. The bridal party included the bride and groom. Miss Minnie Havens of Kokomo and Miss Clara Lewis, the attendants of the former, and Mr. Renard of El Paso, Ill., and Mr. O. T. McMurray of Say-brook, Ill., of the latter. They passed down the stairs and formed a group before a mass of palms and smilax as the wedding march by Mendelssohn was played by a harpist. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Parr, pastor of the Wayne street church, of Fort Wayne. Mr. Parr was the best man at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Grant, twenty-three years ago last night. The simplest form of the ring ser-vice was used. The bride wore a gown of white silk mull over taffeta, the skirt was made with an accordion plaiting, and the tunic and corsage were trimmed with lace and insertion of valenciennes, with white satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of Bride roses. Miss Havens and Miss Lewis wore gowns alike. They were of white organdle with collarette and sash of pink ribbon, and their flowers were pink carna-tions. As the ceremony proceeded, the harp-ist played soft music. Following the wedding there were congratulations, and later Mr. and Mrs. Hops left for their home in Saybrook, Ill. Among the guests were Mr. Mrs. John H. Grant, grandparents of the bride, from Burlington, Ind.; their daughter, Mrs. McCleary, of the same place; Mr. Henry Hops, the father and Mr. Frank Hops, the brother, of Washington, Ill.; Mr. Henry Hops, jr., of Chenoa, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. T. peared. A reward is offered for information as to his whereabouts. Mark C. Bates, who claims to be a resident of Shelby county, was arrested yes-terday by Detectives Dugan and Asch and charged with stealing a watch from L. Miles, of Madison, Ind. The watch is said to have been taken in a restaurant on East Washington street while Miles was asleep. Next Wednesday the board of directors of the Union Trust Company will meet to select a successor to the president of the company, John H. Holliday. It is thought that Henry Eitel, the vice president, will be chosen to take Mr. Holliday's place, and that the latter will be elected vice president.

The Loan of a Lover. Cassie Coleman and Estella Hill, two colored girls living at the Franklin House, 126 North Missouri street, fought yesterday and were locked up at police headquarters, charged with assault and battery. The Coleman girl claims Estella Hill has so influenced her sweetheart that he steals coal and carries it to Estella's room, while she compelled to hustle for her own coal Yesterday Estella asked Cassle to send her accommodating lover around, as she needed more coal carried up stairs. After a few words Stella invited Cassie to her room and the invitation was accepted. Cassie says that while yet on the stairs the Hill woman struck her on the head with a club Cleave says her husband became a member | and after getting on the upper landing she was struck on the head with a hatchet.

> The British commissioner to Samoa, Mr. Eliot, has received from Apia a full report on the claims made by British subjects for damages resulting from the bombardment and the native uprising. The claims aggregate something above £7,000. Of this amount about £6,000 grows from the depredations of the Mataafa rebels in January and March last, while some £1,000 is for losses resulting from the bombardment of the British-Amer- double what you are asked to pay can naval forces and the succeeding operations on land. There are a large number of separate claims, showing the damage to have been widely distributed. A claim of £840 for the sacking of a residence near Apia and the destruction of a cocoa plantation gives an idea of the wanton destruction characterizing the native uprising. The original amount of the claims was double that now submitted to the British commissioner, as they were first subjected to rigid scrutiny by a British official at Apia. Besides the schedule of claims, a considerable amount of general information as to the situation in Samoa was brought in the last official mail. There was no evidence of any disorder, however, and no apprehensions ex-Mr. Eliot called at the White House

Bliss, of the commissary department, collector of customs at Havana. has made a report to Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn concerning the employment of Americans in the Cuban customs service, in which he replies to an allegation that Americans were monopolizing the places in the service. He shows that on July 1 last there were 595 persons employed in the service, of whom 545 were natives and fifty Americans. At five of the sixteen ports there are no Americans employed, except the army officer who is acting as collector.

Director of Posts Rathbone reports to the postmaster general that he has issued an order restricting the issuance of money orders in Cuba to five a day from one remitter to one payee. The order was issued to correct what was considered an abuse of the money order privilege. The banks complained that the system was materially injuring them.

If the recommendations of Chief Constructor Hichborne, of the navy, for the three new battleships-Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Georgia-are adopted by the Board of Construction of the Navy Department, the United States in the course of several years will have the finest battleships affoat. Admiral Hichborne's recommendations con-template a speed of twenty-one knots, a coal capacity of 2,500 tons, a displacement of 15,000 tons, a main battery of four ten-inch guns and a nine-inch Krupp armor belt. The most radical departure in Admiral Hichborne's plans is that of speed. At the present time the fastest battleship in the navy is sixteen knots, although the Maine, Missouri and Wisconsin, which are now under construction, are to have speed of eighteen knots. The fastest battleship in any foreign navy is approximately twenty knots.

The President's Western trip is developing rapidly, and at the urgent request of political friends is being extended at a remarkable rate. Senator Allison is insisting upon several stops in Iowa, and the President will undoubtedly yield. The itinerary in its final form will not be ready for announcement before the President's departure and may be changed after the start is made. It remains undecided whether Admiral Dewey will accompany the party. He has a pressing invitation to participate in ceredecide to attend because of the nearness to his Vermont home. The admiral is reported as tiring under the strains of the celebrations and may feel the necessity of taking a rest after he goes through the Washington ordeal. The President is waiting to learn the admiral's wishes, and should he find if possible to accompany the party West the plans will be materially changed

Klondike Prices. Gunton's Magazine for October.

In the late summer of 1898 Professor Heilprin's bill for lodging was $35 per while a room for one night cost $6.50. ranged from $25 to $35 a week. Fresh cow's milk cost $60 a gallon, oranges and lemons 75 cents apiece, doubtful eggs $2.50 per dozen, watermelons $25, cucumbers $5 each, brooms ranged from $4 to $14 a chickens $10 each, though a little earlier in the season the price had been $100 for three. Two weeks before his arrival hay was selling at $1,200 a ton. Of course the tendency of prices at Dawson is steadily downward in proportion as population grows and com-munication with the outside world becomes more easy and frequent. The conditions are similar to those which prevailed in Cali-fornia in the forties and fifties, and are, of course, wholly abnormal.
